Red Obstruction Of Jap Treaty To Meet Resistance

Acheson Prepares To Battle Red Moves At Treaty Parley

By PIERRE J. HUSS

(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The United States is plunging ahead today with its iron-clad pattern against Communist aggression in the Pacific by signing another mutual defense pact—this one with Australia and New Zealand.

Secretary of State Acheson, who will sign the latest of four security treaties calculated to block Red expansionism in the Far Pacific, also served firm warning last night that any Communist obstruction of the Japanese peace treaty will be resisted "tooth and nail."

Test of Intentions

Acheson, without specifically naming Russia, left no doubt that he was speaking to the Soviet's Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, when he said that the forthcoming treaty conference will be a test of the true peace intentions of the world delegations assembling in San Francisco.

With John Foster Dulles, the principal author of the Japanese treaty standing by his side, Acheson said:

"Actions at the conference will demonstrate clearly which nation really wants peace and which nation merely talks peace while acting in ways that prevent peace."

Acheson laid down this challenge to the U.S.S.R. even as its chief representative was headed by train toward San Francisco.

Ironically, Gromyko's train was due to arrive in the Golden Gate (Continued on Page Two)

Had our photographic film and dark glasses at ready to watch the sun but discovered they weren't needed. Don't mind too much since the rain is so badly needed in the area. Wonder if the eclipse was visible elsewhere?

Although lightning flashed and thunder rolled all around here last night, New Castle proper got short-changed on the rain, only a light shower being noted in some sections of the city, late in the evening. Prospects for rain, however, were better this morning, as this was written.

Residents of the Wampum-Moravia road, Route 18, are hoping soon that the sharp curve and underpass on the route near Moravia can be eliminated. Large trailer trucks making use of the underpass nearly crush passenger cars when the two pass there together. One woman is in the hospital this week from an accident that occurred there, it is learned. The road is scheduled for rebuilding.

An exceptionally large load of "pea in the shell" was noted passing through the city. The load was no doubt headed for a distant slaughter house and will eventually reach the tables of American homes for consumption.

State police will have an extra busy time over the present weekend in patrolling district highways as holiday motoring gets under way. Only one fatality on a holiday has occurred in the local area for the past four years, it is learned.

Workmen of the city have done a good job of patchwork at the intersection of County Line street and Washington street. The paving had become loose and the work will keep the rest from being washed away by heavy rains.

Madame Eva Peron Declines Place As Vice President

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Madame Eva Peron ended a week of speculation today by formally and tearfully refusing to become Argentina's first woman vice president.

Election was virtually certain if she had accepted the nomination to be a running-mate of her husband, President Juan D. Peron. He is expected to accept renomination.

This would avert a federal court injunction to force the strikers back to work.

Meanwhile, a board of inquiry appointed by President Truman prepared to hold public hearings on the wage dispute which has threatened to cripple the nation's defense effort.

The hearings start at 10 a. m. (EDT) today when the board will gather information to be included in its report to the president.

Hunt Slayer Of State Trooper

New England Officer Shot To Death On Lonely Highway

BARRE, Mass., Sept. 1.—(INS)—A Worcester hoodlum with a long criminal record today was hunted by police for questioning in the brutal slaying last night of State Trooper Alje M. Savelle.

Savelle, 34, of Fitchburg, Mass., was found sprawled face-down alongside his cruiser car parked on a lonely strip of Route 122 on the outskirts of Barre. Six 9 millimeter bullets had ripped into his face, head and back. His own gun was still in its holster.

The Worcester thug was brought into the case when state detectives obtained from witnesses a partial registration number of a black sedan with white wall tires which was seen leaving the murder scene.

Savelle's body was discovered by Edward M. Neylon, 37, a farmer whose home is 100 yards from the murder scene. He and his wife, (Continued on Page Two)

Weather Obscures View Of Sun Eclipse This Morning

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Scattered clouds, rain and a heavy ground haze brought disappointment today to early-risers who had hoped to see the first eclipse of the sun visible in the eastern United States since 1940.

Beyond and above the clouds, however, the moon, passing between the earth and the sun, could be seen blocking off 87 per cent of old Sol's golden glory.

The sun, climbing in the eastern sky, slid behind the moon, the maximum eclipse being achieved at 7:01 a. m. EDT., and the situation returning to normal at 8:10 a. m.

In addition to the eastern United States, the eclipse, but for the weather, was visible in Europe and Africa.

Geographically, the best view was to be had in a belt, 280 miles by 95 miles from the Blue Ridge mountains to the sea, stretching from Virginia to North Carolina.

In that area, the eclipse was annular. The moon scored a "bull's eye" on the sun which appeared as a fiery ring around the earth's satellite which itself seemed black in color.

The disappointment of the eclipse-viewers was sharpened by the realization that the next such eclipse will not occur in the eastern United States for 33 years.

Allied Officials Reject Claims U.N. Responsible

At Least 12 Flares Dropped Over UN Base Of Allied Delegates

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN (Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Sept. 2.—(Sunday)—A twin-engine airplane dropped parachute flares over the UN Base Camp at Munsan just before midnight last night a few hours after Allied officials charge that a UN aircraft bombed Kaesong.

What correspondents described as an "unidentified plane" dropped at least 12 parachute flares over the UN Base Camp housing the Allied delegation to the Korea truce conference. Then it went on and dropped more flares over the press train housing correspondents about a mile away from the orchard "truce camp."

It was not immediately known whether more than one plane was involved. Officials were unable to give an immediate explanation.

The mystery aircraft appeared over Munsan less than 24 hours after the second "bombing" of the Kaesong neutral zone near the residence of the Communist delegation.

Cooked up by Reds The Communists charged that an Allied plane was involved. United Nations liaison officers after a detailed four-hour investigation strongly implied that this, (Continued on Page Two)

Union Battle Causes Loss

Michigan State Fair Hit By Controversy Of Labor Unions

DETROIT, Sept. 1.—(INS)—The 1951 Michigan State fair in its second day today already has a $20,000 loss because of an opening day jurisdictional fight between a CIO and A. F. of L. union.

Picket lines ringed the state fairgrounds in Detroit yesterday afternoon just as Governor G. Mennen Williams and Comedian Bob Hope arrived to officially open the 10-day fair.

Hope, Marilyn Maxwell, musicians and stage hands refused to cross the picket line.

As a result, one performance of the $10,000-a-day Bob Hope show was cancelled and all commercial deliveries to the fairgrounds were stopped.

Members of the state fair board finally cancelled the $2,400 contract of the Vernor Ginger Ale company over which the unions were fighting.

A. F. of L. leaders charged that the CIO had raided its union signing up the Vernor employees manning the refreshment stands at the fair.

The girl, whose name was not disclosed, called police headquarters and said that she had a date with Bashlor and was to meet him in the restaurant. Police kept the date instead.

Bashlor freely admitted to detectives that he shot and killed 62-year-old John E. Stephenson when the banker caught him following around his home last Sunday.

Following the shooting the youth returned to Detroit where he had grown up, the product of a broken home. He admitted the killing to his 19-year-old brother, Clifford, when he arrived in the city.

COATES-HUFFMAN NUPTIALS QUIET

Simplicity marked the marriage, which was lovely in every detail, uniting the lives of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Coates of 7 Wood street this city, and Carl Huffman, son of Mrs. Harry J. Huffman and the late Mr. Huffman of 304 Wood street, Ellwood City, Pa.

Dr. William Stafford Scott officiated at the single ring ceremony which was performed at 7:00 in the evening, August 31, at the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church of Ellwood City. Baskets of white gladioli and yellow mums created a lovely background for the exchange of vows which were witnessed only by the immediate families of the young couple and close friends. The groom's brother, Frank M. Huffman, served as best man for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride chose a strapless, waltz-length dress of white nylon marquisette over a taffeta hoop skirt edged with a dainty ruffle. The sheer yoke was laced with white satin, cap sleeves and tiny buttons to the waist in front. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught to a lace bonnet encrusted with lilies of the valley. She wore matching nylon mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with streamers of cascading camellias.

Miss Charlotte Aller as maid of honor was winsome in a white, long-length gown of white embroidered marquisette over a mauve taffeta hoop skirt fashioned similar to the bride's with a matching lace picture hat. Her colonial bouquet consisted of yellow roses.

HELP REDUCE HOLIDAY TRAFFIC TOLL

With the national death rate from automobile accidents running as much as 18 per cent higher than last year when a post-war record of highway slaughter was set, there is nothing more certain than that it will take unusual precautions by motorists during this Labor Day week-end to save thousands from death or crippling injury.

The urgency of the need for careful driving has been pointed up in state areas the last few weeks by a series of especially dramatic and tragic traffic deaths caused by irresponsible drivers. In these cases the violations of good sense were so flagrant that the killings which resulted seemed on a par with deliberate murder.

Yet some of the same citizens who looked with horror upon the actions of these offenders will—barring sudden reform of their own habits—take risks with their lives and those of others in the Labor Day traffic which are hardly less excusable.

Of every ten persons killed in holiday traffic only three are drivers. The remaining seven are passengers or pedestrians—most of them helpless to save themselves.

The people who cause the bulk of these deaths are to be seen every day on our streets and highways. They are the speeders, the motorists who weave in an out, who drive after drinking, who try to beat the changing traffic lights, who can't control the sense of power and exhilaration which driving a fast automobile gives them.

The difference over the week-end will be that more of these persons, perhaps more than ever before, will be out on the highways at the same time, along with millions of other drivers bent on making the best of a short respite from the daily grind.

The result, to judge from past experience, could be a new high in holiday deaths and surely will be, unless the majority of individuals involved make up their minds not only to drive carefully and keep absolutely within the law but to back the police in their efforts to thwart those who don't.

ATOMIC ENERGY AFLOAT

The navy cannot be accused of being loquacious about its projected nuclear-powered submarine. In its first official pronouncement the navy wrapped it up in one sentence, leaving its public relations spokesmen to sweat out the flanking attacks of a news hungry press.

Actually, the terse announcement of award of a contract for the submarine's hull was confirmation that the theorizing stage was over and that the actual hammering and sawing was about to begin.

It also emphasizes that America has stepped past the threshold of the true "atomic age." The implication is that one of the two parallel efforts to construct a propulsion unit for a seagoing hull has met success, or come so close that scientists feel it is time to get on with the remainder of the project.

Encouraging news is forthcoming on another project, the atomic-powered plane. Both AEC Chairman Gordon Dean and General Vandenberg of the air force have said that success along these lines is much closer than people might imagine.

It is of the utmost urgency that efforts toward harnessing atomic energy for propulsion should be aimed at military applications at this time. Success in launching and operating a nuclear-powered submarine would give this country an untold strategic advantage over Russia or any other enemy. Comparable success along the lines of ordnance weapons and atom-powered flight should eliminate all fear of armed stalemate.

The marvelous possibilities which the enslavement of the atom offers in the form of better living are thus temporarily subordinated. But the nuclear plant that might drive a submarine at terrific speeds for long periods of time might be easily converted for use in, say, an ocean liner, or in a plant which could be set to distilling sea water to irrigate western deserts. That's the most encouraging aspect of all.

HOW THINGS JAM

The other day a truck and car collided on a four-lane highway leading northwest from New York City into the Catskill mountain resort area. The truck overturned and blocked all lanes.

What followed is an eye-opener. For six and one-half hours traffic was stalled for a distance of 16 miles. Altogether, an estimated 15,000 automobiles were tied up. The wrecking crews reached the scene of the accident only with the greatest difficulty.

Civil defense authorities in our big cities with crowded highway exits ought to take note. Imagine the chaos if such a minor mishap had occurred as sequel to an atom bomb attack on New York.

A dispatch from London reveals that a lot of young girls there have taken up bell ringing as a hobby. Wedding Bells?

Some people continue to insist there would be no war if nations knew each other better. But Russia was no threat to the United States until Roosevelt recognized the Reds.

New Mexican Indians, we read, refer to clowns as "delight makers." This should prove, if anything could, that Old Chief Stonyface really has a sense of humor.

Philippines Defense Pact Move

The historic mutual defense pact with the Philippines marks another step today in the unprecedented American commitments of blood and money around the globe.

It is in tune with New York Governor Dewey's statement upon his return from a far eastern tour that "we must draw a line" in the Pacific and warn the communists of the consequences of crossing it. The pact with the Filipino heroes of Bataan and Corregidor is only the first of several scheduled ones which President Truman says are to "check aggression and defend the rights of free peoples."

On Saturday a similar pact was to be signed by the United States, Australia and New Zealand. After the Japanese peace treaty is signed next week the U. S. will enter into a defense pact with Japan, a former Axis enemy who will be allowed a land army sufficient for defense needs.

It is Governor Dewey's idea, subscribed to by many other Americans, that after the China disaster we must obtain every possible ally in the Pacific. Behind the no-crossing line wants drawn in the Pacific is southeastern Asia, which he says is a natural target for a Red drive.

Will Hearten French

This will hearten the French who have been fighting communist-led Indo-Chinese natives in a costly war, part of whose money check is being paid by the U. S. The French fear a renewed onslaught there, no matter what happens in Korea, where cease-fire talks have broken down and where President Truman says UN forces are strong enough to resume heavy fighting if that is what the communists want.

The network of Pacific pacts is designed to complement the North Atlantic system in communist-endangered western Europe.

If any warning were needed, after the Korean episode, it means that the United States is committed to go to war at almost every strategic point in the world should Russia or one of its satellites attack.

Not Considered Enough

The Atlantic pact signed in the spring of 1949 was intended to dissuade Russia from possible aggression. But the U. S. does not consider it enough. There are plans now to bring Turkey and Greece into that organization.

Also the U. S. much to the extreme annoyance of Britain and France, her two strongest partners in the Atlantic pact, has sent a military survey team to Madrid to study a possible American-Spanish military commitment.

One big weak point in the tightening belt of alliances is the middle east.

Iran, whose oil riches are eyed longingly by neighboring Russia, is temporarily left to stew in its own juices. It is a dangerous dispute with Britain because Iran is economically weak and what happens there will vitally affect all Anglo-American oil holdings in the middle east.

Egypt Gets Red Ally

Egypt suddenly has found an expedient ally in Russia in its UN security council quarrel with the west. The west demands that Egypt halt the Suez canal blockade of Israeli-bound cargoes.

Adding to Britain's quiet fury is the Egyptian intention to denounce the 20-year treaty with Britain negotiated in 1936 when Britain was far stronger—strong enough to keep Axis forces from overrunning Egypt in World War II.

The other dangerous and unsettled spots are Germany, of course, and anti-Moscow Yugoslavia, both of which are being wooed by the west.

Russia will denounce the Pacific alliances just as it has the Atlantic pact. Moscow will brand them as aggressive instruments aimed at Russia.

All the Moscow propaganda omits mention of the events leading up to those pacts. Such as the communist attack on Greece, the attempt to keep troops in Iran after the war, the cold war in Germany, the assassination of the Czechoslovakian republic, the conquest of other once free lands and the very hot war in Korea.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

REDUCING SCHOOL DROP-OUTS

It's distressing to see so many teen-age boys and girls quitting school. Among the reasons are that they find school dull or hard going and are lured by big wages they can earn (which they usually spend on a car, finer clothes and more good times). Not many quit high school because of actual economic need nor are nearly all of them dullards.

Obviously, the school and the home can do most to win these youths to continue their schooling—the school as it adapts its curriculum and program better to the individual needs of the students, and the home as it inspires the youths with ambition and wins them to keep their attention on the more lasting values and to choose to strive toward self-improvement.

Good Work of Teachers

Nor should we overlook what some teachers are doing in these directions. Many a youth continues in school even when the going is hard or when some of his pals drop out and choose what seems to them the easy way. Let us show our appreciation of these great teachers, thank God for them and pray that more teachers might emulate them.

Recently, the Office of Education of the Federal Security Agency issued an 86-page report on "Improving School Holding Power," in its campaign to help reduce drop-outs from high schools. This report summarizes what 23 large city school systems are doing to encourage youths to stay in school. The efforts include trade schools, home life courses, special classes for slow pupils and remedial reading. All the public school systems taking part in this campaign exchange information on the results of their efforts and their researches on why boys and girls leave school.

P.T.A. Helping

An item in the report appealing most to me concerns the efforts of the P.T.A. in Minneapolis, begun a year ago. After the fourth day of school in September, 1950, the school clerk provided a committee of the Parent-Teacher Association with the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all the students over 16 who had not returned to school. As a result of this program, many pupils "checked into the school, sold on the idea of returning urged by the P.T.A. worker."

The remaining 683 drop-outs of the 13 senior high schools were studied by the school counselors. About half of them were found to be out for valid reasons. Of the rest, about 100 returned to school, attending either day or evening classes. What finer service could a P.T.A. render in any community?

Obviously, Parent-Teacher workers, chiefly parents, learn from such efforts more about the school and its counseling program and sense more keenly what the home can do to cause youths to continue school. Inevitably this information and experience inspire discussion by these mothers in the P.T.A. meetings, when more parents see how they can build better family relations.

Happy Family Relations

As you and I know very well, the happier family relations are, the more parents can to induce their children to continue in school and succeed at school. My bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y. Of course, these good family relations are not built in a day. They are best developed over the years since the child's birth.

So every parent, whether the child is 16 years or 16 months of age, can do something now and continue doing something to keep children choosing to continue at school. Practically everything we discuss from day to day in this column is related to this problem.

FAITH AND THE HARVEST

Great faith have they in sun and

Who yearly plant their fields with grain.
They prove with their devoted toil
A firm belief in seed and soil.

Men build and shape. With gear and wheel
Their skill and genius they reveal.
But still how grain and fruit are grown
Are mysteries known to God alone.

Now comes the harvest! Every sheaf
Is God's reward for men's belief.
And vindicates their trust again
In seed and soil and sun and rain.

An elderly scholar, living from hand to mouth, decided to try his hand at robbery in order to supplement his meagre income. He stood in a dark alley waiting for a prospect. Along came an equally unprepossessing character who snapped at attention at the command, "Stick 'em up." "Stick what up?" he quavered. "Don't mix me up," replied the highwayman angrily. "This is my first job."

A commencement day speaker lost his place in the middle of a prepared address and nervously attempted to improvise. "I am reminded of a story," he quavered, "when I was a little boy and girl."

Beyond the breakers, a swimmer in obvious distress began crying for help in French. "Au secours!" he shouted, "au secours!" A couple of fellows watched him from the boardwalk but made no move to help. "You know," said one, "that guy either comes from France or he's a terrific snob." (Copyright, 1951, by Bennett Cerf. # From Me To You

By MESEFALL

"Do you like the town in which you live?" Most people do . . . but there are some folks who seem to enjoy the life of a "complainor" who we like to listen to a good "complainor". But we don't like to listen to a run-at-the-mouth complainor . . . for this type does nothing but complain . . . and have no solution to the problem they complain about. The type of "complainor" that we enjoy says his say . . . has a ready solution to remedy the "complaint" and then does something to make that remedy work.

A "complainor" can be nasty . . . and you have seen and heard the type . . . or a "complainor" can be a worthwhile citizen . . . Two ways to do all jobs . . . unless you're in the army . . . then there's three ways; the right way, the wrong way, and the army's way. But you might say these words over and over and then read 'em off to your family.

"I had a little hammer once
And I went knocking everywhere
At folks I didn't like.

I knocked most everybody
But found it didn't pay
For when folks saw me coming
They all went the other way.

I've thrown away my hammer now
As far as I could shoot
And taken up a booster horn
You should hear it too.

I'm glad I'm with the booster now
I like the way they do
And if you lay YOUR hammer down
I'll get a horn for you.

Labor Exercises Power Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Something old fashioned adheres to the very idea of Labor Day. It comes out of an era when such a gesture was a kind of pat on the back for the honest sons of toil who deserved a holiday named for them.

Today organized labor is one of the three or four most powerful components of our highly organized society. By virtue of that position labor today exercises its power as a matter of right. The pat on the back, the annual parade, the symbol of the full dinner pail, these are as outmoded as the moustache cup and the horse and buggy.

But as some union leaders are aware, a great deal of psychology of that earlier day still dominates the thinking of much of the labor movement. It is above all, the attitude of a special-interest group seeking to get all it can out of the national grab bag. In the persistence of this narrow viewpoint is a danger threatening all of the far-reaching gains of this century.

Being Shown More Clearly

That is being shown even more clearly as the squeeze of inflation becomes harder to bear. Thanks to the effectiveness of organization, 15,000,000 unionized workers have kept not too far behind the upward climb of prices. This has been due in no small part to cost-of-living clauses such as provide increases for the United Auto Workers as the cost-of-living index goes up.

Here is a source of profound resentment fed by fear and insecurity. As inflation cuts deeper when the big defense spending really begins, this resentment will grow. It will be a field ready made for demagogic exploitation by those who want to destroy the power of organized labor.

Enforced Price Controls

In the long and bitter controversy over economic controls during the past two years labor leaders have repeatedly argued for a law that would protect everyone through rigidly enforced price controls. But at the same time in the scramble of pressure-group politics in Washington they have fought for their own gains, angrily hitting back at those who have suggested that cost-of-living clauses were in reality a form of built-in inflation.

Coloring this attitude was a belief hung onto with stubborn insistence in spite of its being obviously false. That was the assertion that prices could be held down in spite of wage increases through the device of restricting profits. Again and again labor spokesmen have cited facts and figures to document the phenomenal profits of its post-war years.

Might Have Been Possible

If labor held the balance of power in Washington they would have suggested that cost-of-living clauses were in reality a form of built-in inflation. Coloring this attitude was a belief hung onto with stubborn insistence in spite of its being obviously false. That was the assertion that prices could be held down in spite of wage increases through the device of restricting profits. Again and again labor spokesmen have cited facts and figures to document the phenomenal profits of its post-war years.

"Weak And Effeminate?"

By PAUL GALLICO

I say we are in danger of becoming a weak and effeminate nation and that our drinking habits are becoming more sissified every day. And with your kind permission I will now proceed to expand and prove my thesis.

Well, sirs our forefathers used to galumph into the border bar, saloon, or liquor emporium, pound the pine board or genouine mahogany bar and roar for three fingers of Red Eye or Panther juice. The bartender would hand over bottle and glass, the devotee would pour his potion, toss it off neat and that was that.

And their ancestors took rum straight, or with a little water, or drank Arrac out of a barrel, or consumed a stoup of wine, or a couple of quarts of ale or port at a sitting, and never did any of these mighty he-men, pioneers and empire builders consume so much as a single nasty, fussy, chewy, crunchy, inky-pinky, puffy-wuffy cocktail biscuit, snack, fluff, or appetizer with his tipple.

Menace To Our Civilization

There—it's out! The menace to our civilization. Our forefathers had good hearty appetites and after whetting it sharply with some Hollands gin with Orange Bitters, or a couple of nips of spirit, or eau de vie, they would tear into a haunch, or roll out a wheel of cheese and cut off a man-size wedge and consume it with an honest handful of ship's biscuit or miller's loaf.

But they would have blanched in the presence of the tidbits now considered a necessary adjunct to drinking, and would most certainly have cut their throats before permitting any of these crisps, puffs, crackles, sticks, chips, chews or wafers to pass along their gullets to muddle up the flavor of honest whiskey, or create a thirst.

In the first place they had thirsts. They didn't have to whip them up artificially by cramming their faces full of salted peanuts, toasted cashew nuts, or pretzels. When a citizen found himself accosted by another with the greeting, "Good even to you, sirrah! Will you join me in something to drive out the chill and slake the thirst?" the answer was, "At your service, mynheer," and the happy invitee didn't have to stuff himself with fillets of herring or dried pig fat in order to do justice to the punchon of rum, tankard of stout, or whatever was being offered.

Recently I found myself in a large provender shop gazing with horror upon shelf after shelf devoted only to products designed to tease and titillate the thirst and make the citizens more amenable to downing the drinks at some cocktail party or other.

"What Are We Coming To?"

This then, said I to myself, is our civilization and what we are coming to. Here were things visible through the glass sides of jars, colored sunrise pink, jaundice yellow, arsenic green, and poke-in-the-eye purple. They were made ostensibly of Japanese seaweed, or Polynesian polyp, or something equally appalling and were advertised as having a beneficial effect upon the appetite at the cocktail hour.

Here were things in cans, in bottles, in boxes and in jars, imported, domestic, plain and fancy, fried, dried, baked, salted, burned, dehydrated, adided, poached, parched, frizzled, and emulsified, and the customer is advised that to consider taking a drink without a bowlful of some of these as an adjunct is simply unthinkable.

Here were nuts, potatoes, bacon, fish, ham, pickles, soy products, plastics, animal, vegetable, mineral products, Oriental as well as Occidental concoctions, sweet and sour, celery flavored, anise flavored, all intended to be dished up and pushed under the nose of the American male at drink time after a hard day's work, which is the time that a gent really appreciates a snort and doesn't want the issue confused with an assortment of crumbs, crunches, pops, crisps and nibbles.

Maybe I'm wrong; maybe we have changed, maybe men just love these dishes of what-is-it that come with the drinks nowadays, but then I say too that I have proved the point made at the beginning of this essay—namely that we are softening up.

I do not even refer to the Canape department, those horrid little sandwiches on trays that are part and parcel of the cocktail party. I will cover that situation in another composition some time. Here we are, concerned only with the itty-bitty, tasty-wasty, snacksie-wacksie which you stuff into your mouth until (A) there is no room left for an honest drink, and (B) you have definitely spoiled your appetite for dinner.

The emphasis has sort of shifted to the cocktail snack instead of the cocktail. Have another crispy-coconut-potato-bean-flake. Here's how! Eat up!

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Just in case you overlooked it in your paper, I want to call your attention to a story that came out of Moscow.

Victor Suslov was the director of a large tractor factory at Minsk.

One day the Minister of the Tractor and Auto Industry was scheduled to visit the factory on an inspection trip.

Suslov was not very pleased about the visit. His tractor production was way behind schedule.

So he called hundreds of workers out of the factory and put them to work planting pansies, roses and other flowers and beautifying the grounds all around the place.

The men built nicely sanded paths and splashed silver paint over the trash cans and other unsightly spots.

Comrade Suslov hoped that Comrade Khlamov, the minister would not notice the unrepainted roof, the rusting tools and the tractors with parts missing.

Instead, he hoped, he would notice the big sign over the entrance door "Welcome to Comrade Khlamov, representative of the great Stalin," and the vases filled with flowers.

(Incidentally, according to Izvestia, the Soviet newspaper, Comrade Suslov also used a very unorthodox method of cleaning the window panes of his factory, a method which, however, I do not recommend to American housewives. He simply summoned the fire brigade and had the firemen knock out all the dirty window panes.)

At any rate, his gradiose scheme went awry.

Comrade Khlamov was not fooled by Comrade Suslov's tricks—and at this hearing Comrade Suslov is either on his way to the salt mines, or, for all I know, he may be looking for his head.

I wonder whether this little story is not typical of all Russia. I wonder whether all that bluster, all that talk, all that saber rattling isn't just a colossal bluff. I wonder whether we are justified in being so terribly afraid of a country that puts up an iron curtain—for what?

Every once in a while some visitor will come to our house when it is very much in disorder.

My wife will say to me "Keep 'em busy out in the garden. Show 'em the river. Show 'em the ducks. But, for heaven's sakes, don't let them in till I give the signal."

Could that be Russia? Afraid to let us see the awful mess her house is in?

Let us all heed the advice General Eisenhower sent along to us by way of the Foreign Relations subcommittee which recently visited Europe:

"The material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources available to the free world are so overwhelming as compared to what the iron curtain and satellite countries have, that is almost ridiculous to be talking in terms of fright and hysteria which we often do."

Let us remember the story of Comrade Khlamov and Comrade Suslov.

Russia's atom bombs may just be roses and pansies.

Bible Thought

And seek not ye what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after; and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you. —Luke 12: 29, 30, 31.

ANVIL CLOUDS

Sonja Henie Is Not To Retire

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Ice skating queen Sonja Henie thoroughly squelched today rumors that she is planning to retire.

"I'll be back on the ice again this coming season, that you can be sure of," she told International News Service in an exclusive interview.

Sonja was interviewed at her New York apartment in the Hampshire House. Bubbling over with good spirits, the skating star said she has definite plans for the immediate future but is not yet ready to announce them.

"I wish I could tell you exactly what my plans are," she said, "but they are still not advanced enough yet. But I certainly have no intention of retiring."

First Word
Sonja's statement was the first definite word from her since the announcement last week by Arthur M. Witz, producer for the past dozen years of the Sonja Henie Hollywood Ice Review, that the show he would put on for the coming season would be without his star.

"I'm going right ahead, getting my own organization together," said Sonja. "I've been signing up skaters, directors and a technical staff, and in a short time I'll be ready to tell you just what I'm going to do."

"I've already spent over $500,000. We are having built a new portable rink, full stadium-size, and we have a lot of beautiful costumes—much better, for instance, than last year's."

"That doesn't look like retirement, does it?" she asked with a smile.

Sonja declined to say whether she will take her show on the road, or will produce her extravaganza for television.

"You'll be seeing me next season," she said. "That's the important thing. I'll let you know where and when."

Committee Will Study Production Of Newsprint

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(INS)—The special House subcommittee investigating newsprint supply will leave Washington Monday for a first-hand study of production in Canada.

Chairman Beckworth (D) Tex., said the group has been "increasingly concerned" with the problem of small country weekly and smaller daily papers, in obtaining enough newsprint to continue operations.

Beckworth said the subcommittee has received assurances from government officials that no publication will be allowed to go out of business because of lack of newsprint.

Says Farmers May Be Hurt By Controls Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Administration spokesmen have told the Senate banking committee that a restriction on the import of fats, oils and dairy products in the new controls law may hurt the American farmer rather than help him.

Willard L. Thorpe, assistant secretary of state, reported that some countries hit by the restriction are already actively considering counter-restrictions in retaliation. He said these steps could affect such important American exports as apples, citrus fruits, prunes, tobacco and cotton.

Thorpe and Undersecretary of Agriculture Clarence J. McCormick disclosed that the new law has already resulted in drastic restrictions on the import of dairy and other products from friendly countries.

They cited Denmark and Holland as two nations which have been hit hardest.

McCormick noted that Canada buys U.S. fruits and vegetables many times more valuable than the cheese that Canada and its dairymen have been sending to the U.S.

The farm officials said the American farmer is apt to be the biggest loser in any retaliatory curbs on foreign trade.

McCormick also reminded the committee that to treat friendly Allies in the same way the Soviet bloc is treated would be—in his words—"playing directly into the hands of the very forces we are mobilizing to oppose."

Nationalists Win In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Almost certain victory seemed assured today for Premier Sidney G. Holland's Nationalist government as counting of ballots in New Zealand's general election neared its close.

Indications were that all members of Holland's cabinet would retain their seats and the balance in the house of representatives will probably be unchanged.

Good weather favored heavy balloting which climaxed the test of strength between Nationalists and Socialists and the bitterest campaign in New Zealand history. Registered voters total 1,206,460.

View Eclipse At 12,000 Feet High From Plane Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(INS)—A rare but highly colorful celestial spectacle—an almost complete eclipse of the sun by the moon—thrilled early risers in the eastern United States today.

It was an amazing show that rewarded most of perhaps a million or more persons who remembered to set their alarm clocks.

In New York, the Hayden Planetarium arranged a special flight for newsmen to view the sight at 12,000 feet between Washington and New York.

Nature's show was seen under ideal conditions through most of the east.

The maximum blackout of the sun came over the North Carolina-Virginia area where the annular (ring) eclipse covered all but the outer rim of the sun.

In New York State, 87 per cent of the sun was blotted out by the moon, while New Englanders saw an 80 per cent eclipse and the rest of the east saw smaller chunks taken out of the sun.

As the moon inched its way between the earth and the sun, the light radiated by Old Sol began to take on shades of a vivid violet and looked like a flaming moon.

Astronomers said the eclipse had no special scientific value.

The last time such a sight was seen in the United States was in 1940 and the next one won't occur until May 30, 1954.

Some Increase In Farm Products Prices In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—(INS)—The price of farm products in Pennsylvania rose slightly in the month ended August 15.

The state department reported a one-point price index increase in its crop report. The index stood at 293, compared with 258 on August 15, 1950.

"Decreases in prices received for livestock, poultry, potatoes, fruits and soybeans were overcome slightly by advances in dairy products, eggs and food grains," the department said.

"While farmers' returns for milk advanced 20 cents a hundred pounds wholesale," the department noted, "the prices farmers receive for milk cows hit a record high of $274 per head." The crop report:

"Prices obtained by farmers for cattle and calves dropped 40 cents a hundred pounds live weight while sheep and lambs went down 60 cents," according to the report.

"Hogs gained 30 cents a hundred pounds, eggs advanced 42 cents a dozen and wheat and rye one cent a bushel."

"Chickens were off two cents a pound live weight and turkeys dropped half a cent. As of August 15 farmers were averaging $1.25 a bushel for potatoes, $1.75 for apples, 29.3 cents a pound for live chickens, 42.5 cents a pound for live turkeys and 63 cents a dozen for eggs."

Pressure Cooker Baby Life-Saver

ST. LOUIS, (INS)—A miraculous life-saving incubator that duplicates conditions at birth is being used with decisive success today at DePaul Hospital in St. Louis.

The prototype of the comparatively new device is an ordinary kitchen pressure cooker. The machine approximates the temperature, humidity, air pressure and oxygen conditions which exist in the womb at birth.

The life-saver combines the warmth of the ordinary incubator with the life-giving oxygen of the regular resuscitator. The "miracle" worker features controls for fluctuating air pressure from three pounds to one pound in one-minute cycles, a condition that appears in the womb during labor.

Its inventor, Dr. Allan Bloxson of Baylor University's Medical School, saved a pressure cooker in half and welded an aluminum cylinder in the center. Attached by tubing are oxygen chambers and the cooker's pressure device controls the air pressure. The machine was tested a year ago in a Houston, Tex., hospital.

The ships are the SS Halsey, a 10,700-ton tanker torpedoed in 1942 off the east coast of Florida; the SS Crown City, 8,600-ton cargo ship that ran aground in the vicinity of Nome, Alaska, in 1942 and the SS Benjamin Brester, a 8,595-ton tanker torpedoed off the Louisiana coast.

Bill Would Provide Right To Look Into Real Estate Deals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(INS)—The Senate next week is expected to approve legislation giving congressional committees the right to scrutinize real estate transactions of the Armed Services and Civil Defense Administration. President Truman vetoed a similar bill earlier this year, but it has now been tacked on the 5 billion, 888 million dollar military construction measure, scheduled for Senate action Wednesday.

Statutory authority is provided in the bill as now written for Senate and House Armed Services Committees to examine all transactions involving $25,000 or more. The House has set the figure at $10,000.

A bill giving the committees the right to keep an eye on army, navy, and air force land deals was vetoed in May. The House overrode the veto, but the Senate has not acted on it.

Inclusion of the language of the original measure in the appropriation bill, in effect, override the presidential disapproval, and no veto is expected since the legislation authorizes a huge military building program.

WHAT LABOR DAY MEANS

To our 1,700 members Labor Day means an even greater determination to win decent wages and working conditions at the Johnson Bronze plant.

There will be no parade, little fanfare for Labor in New Castle next Monday, but in a very real sense we will be observing Labor Day in the best way possible—by continuing the struggle to get a better break for the working men and women in our community.

We find labor organizations in the entire New Castle area united with us. At a time like this we learn who our friends are. We have been gratified by the backing we have received from so many persons both within the ranks of labor and from the rest of the community.

We wish to take this occasion to express our thanks.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Britain's Princess Elizabeth has declined with thanks a youngster's invitation to visit St. Louis when she comes to the U. S. this fall.

Despite scoffings by her parents, eight-year-old Carol Nussbaum wrote a letter to the princess urging her to come to St. Louis.

Today Carol proudly displayed a reply from a lady-in-waiting to Princess Elizabeth, saying the princess was sorry to disappoint Carol but time would not permit a visit to St. Louis, and sending Carol the princess's best wishes.

Reynolds Picnic Proves Successful

The employees of Reynolds and Summers held their annual store picnic Thursday afternoon and evening at El Rio Beach, with thirty-six people attending, consisting of owner, employees and their families and a few invited guests.

A delicious dinner was furnished by the store and supervised by Mrs. Frank Summers, Mrs. Ben Prosser and Miss Catherine DeSimone.

The most exciting feature of the day was the annual softball game, which was played by both sexes and which always produces many aches and pains during the next few days.

Some of the highlights of the game was the pitching of Frank Summers, the fielding of Harold Houk and Marshall Russett; the batting of James Flick and Anthony Mastrian. The catching of Dick Lee demonstrated that he will be ready for the church league in a few years. Ed Wenda was the home runner hitter. Chester Reynolds' base running was something to see. (He learned how to do this by watching the Three Quarter Century clubs play at St. Petersburg, Florida, last winter).

Hartzel Huston, a guest, was in trouble with umpire, Guy Francis, every time he came to bat. The game was finally called on account of darkness at the end of the 7th inning with Ben Prosser's team winning by a score of 9-8.

The remainder of the evening was spent roller skating and reminiscing. An enjoyable time was had by all.

Opera Production At King's Chapel Church Planned

Choir of the King's Chapel Methodist church, under the direction of Walter Luikhart, have been busily engaged for the past number of weeks readying themselves for the public presentation of excerpts from the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera, "Pirates of Penzance" which will be given Thursday evening, Sept. 6, in the church.

The undertaking is an experiment with the choir which is to be commended for the step in bringing to this area portions of the various well known operas which have been presented in many of the larger cities.

The setting of the musical cast will be the following: Major General Stanley, Joe Jenkins, Jr., bass; Samuel, Samuel Reese, bass; Fred, Fred, Walter Luikhart, tenor; Sgt. of Police, Walter Luikhart, tenor; Mabel, Jean Morgan, soprano; Edith, Gay Reese, soprano; Kate, Margaret Bees, alto; Ruth, Mary C. Taylor, alto; pianist, Mrs. Thomas Wallace.

The audience to a rocky cave following the plundering of a vessel by the pirates who are celebrating the occasion. One of the members has just finished his apprenticeship and they likewise are celebrating that.

A group of young girls, daughters of the Major General are captured by the pirate band. Following an appeal by the Major General, the pirates soften and release the young ladies. Following a clash, the pirates finally surrender in Queen Victoria's name. The General's daughters are finally permitted to marry members of the pirate band.

To be heard during the evening will be members of the Reese orchestra, family of Samuel Reese, one of the participants in the opera. The entire presentation is open to the public.

New Castle Lions Club will meet Tuesday noon at the Castleton, for the club's weekly meeting. A program of entertainment with a get-acquainted stunt is on the after-luncheon period.

Large Fire Is Raging In Texas Chemical Plant

(BULLETIN)
BORGER, Tex., Sept. 1.—(INS)—Fire, fed by a series of explosions, raged today in a huge chemical plant near Borger.

At least five workmen have been injured.

Explosions continued intermittently four hours after the fire started as flames reached tanks filled with chemicals and gases at the three-mile long, butadiene plant of the Phillips Chemical Co.

Firefighters battling to subdue the flames held out little hope that the blaze could be quelled before day's end and the firm reportedly was flying in engineers and other personnel from its Bartlesville, Okla., headquarters to supplement the force.

Damage Extensive
Damage already was extensive to the plant which uses natural gas to make synthetic rubber ingredients and carbon black.

Just one of the explosions, according to a motorist who was driving near the plant, sent huge black clouds mushrooming 2,500 feet into the air.

The flash of the explosions and the smoke was viewed at the Amarillo airport, 40 miles away.

The heavy smoke spread over a large area, and blanketed the city of Borger, 3½ miles east of the plant.

Officials of the plant were unreachable, but engineers familiar with the operations of butadiene plants said the damage undoubtedly would be heavy, perhaps in the millions of dollars.

The fire began about 5 a. m. at a time when few workers were in the plant.

The injured were taken to hospitals in Borger.

'Lady Bookmaker' Given Sentence

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 1.—(INS)—The four-year-old career of a 64-year-old "lady bookmaker" was ended today by a $300 fine and a month in jail.

Mrs. Minnie Irene Breiter, owner of a Lancaster cigar store and confectionary, pleaded guilty to bookmaking charges late yesterday before Judge Oliver S. Schaeffer who said the penalty is lenient because she is the sole support of a 91-year-old father.

A helper, Mathias A. Schmalhoffer, Jr., 41, was fined $300 and jailed for three months in connection with the case. He was paid $5 a day by Mrs. Breiter to take bets, according to the record.

Many Children Benefit From Social Security

Social Security is for children too. This fact is illustrated by a report from the New Castle Social Security Office showing that over 15% of all old-age and survivors insurance beneficiaries in this area are children under the age of 18.

It was pointed out last week by Myron Milbourn, manager of the New Castle office that almost 600 children in Lawrence county are being paid over $17,000 each month in old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

Payments are being made to these children, the manager explained, to partially compensate them for the financial loss suffered when the income on which they were dependent was cut off by the death of their father, or his retirement at age 65 or later. Most of the children receiving old-age and survivors insurance payments are orphans of fathers who have died after having earned an insurance protection for their families.

The other children in the group have fathers who are receiving retirement insurance payments under old-age and survivors insurance.

When an insured worker retires at age 65 or later, any of his unmarried children under the age of 18 are also eligible to receive an insurance check each month.

The amount a child of a deceased or retired worker receives is equal to at least one-half of the amount the father has earned for himself.

Once a child's eligibility has been established, the payments will continue each month until he reaches age 18 or is married. Benefits are not payable, however, for any month in which the child or his retired father earns over $50 in employment covered by the social security or from self-employment newly covered by the law.

Further information regarding the old-age and survivors insurance program may be obtained by writing to or calling at the Social Security Office located at 500 Frew Building, New Castle, Pa. This office is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Weather Outlook For September In Nation Presented

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(INS)—The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for September calls for temperatures averaging below seasonal normals west of the continental divide and in western portions of the northern plains.

Above normal temperatures are indicated in the eastern half of the nation, Texas, and the central plains with greatest departures in the lower Mississippi valley. Elsewhere the outlook is for temperatures not far from seasonal normals.

Rainfall is expected to exceed seasonal normals in the plains and Rocky Mountain states. Sub-normal amounts are indicated from the Gulf states northeast to New England with the exception of east coastal areas where moderate to locally heavy amounts are anticipated. Elsewhere precipitation will be about normal.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

ROME—Italian postal savings totaled about $1,200,000,000 on June 30, 1951, an increase of 74-200,000,000 lire, compared with the total on December 31, 1950. Rome's financial newspaper, "Il Globo," said the increase reflects Italian confidence in the stability of the lire.

Indians Trail Yanks By Full Game, Lose To Browns 6-3

Bob Lemon Hits Two-Run Homer; Dodgers And Giants Open Series

By HOWARD SIGMUND
(L. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The New York Yankees have devised a new method for winning pennants—by sitting tight and not playing ball.

At least they have shot into the American League lead by a full game by remaining idle for two days. In the meantime, the suddenly downgrading Cleveland Indians dropped a pair of games to the lowliest clubs in the league, Philadelphia and St. Louis.

The Browns drubbed the Tribe, 6 to 3, last night and Cleveland's pennant hopeful fans suddenly are beginning to worry.

Lemon Hits Homer?

Left-handed pitching was supposed to be the key to halting the Indians. But last night the Browns threw right-hander Jim McDonald at the Tribe. What happened? McDonald held the Indians to a measly six hits, including a disputed two-run homer by Bob Lemon.

The big Cleveland right-hander, Lemon, failed as a stopper in his third start within a week. The Browns belted him and Lou Brissie for 11 hits, including homers by Hank Artt and Fred Marsh.

But Lemon's pitching could have been well high perfect and he still wouldn't have succeeded in his quest for his eighth straight win and 17th of the year.

Cleveland offensive gestures were virtually nil until the seventh. Then Lemon himself drove a long fly into the fringe of the right field stands that went for a homer almost before the Browns claimed a fan stole the ball out of Cliff Mape's glove.

White Sox Win

There was only one other game in the majors last night, the Chicago White Sox besting Detroit, 2 to 0, in a mound duel between ex-Tiger Saul Rogovin of the Sox and Detroit's Marlin Stuart.

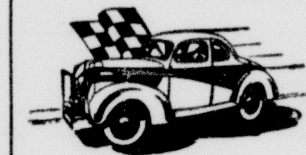

The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants open their pennant series of the year at the Polo Grounds today, but the Dodgers' seven-game lead erases the "crucial" label that was being dusted off earlier in the week.

This was the series that was supposed to make or break the Giants' belated pennant bid while they were nurturing their 16-game winning streak.

But now 500 ball for the Dodgers the rest of the way would require the Giants to win 20 of their remaining 25 games even to tie.

It seems a lot to expect.

The Giants of 1916 set the still standing major league winning streak of 26—and they blew the pennant. They also won 17 in a year that same year. Guess who won the pennant. None other than the Brooklyn Dodgers, while the Giants finished fourth.

Trippi Key Man In Passing Attack

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Charley Trippi, who was better known as a runner when he starred with the University of Georgia, today is the key man in a passing attack developed by the Chicago Cardinals.

Trippi's passing skill definitely proved the decisive factor last night in a one-sided 28-7 defeat the Cards pinned on the New York Yanks in the Chicago Herald-American benefit game at Comiskey park.

Charley's passes set up every touchdown and when the Yanks tried to spread in defense he ran over for one T. D. himself and was smart enough to send runners scurrying for scores on two other touchdowns.

Reschedule Teamster Colored Elks Game

Arrangements between the softball Teamsters and the Colored Elks from Sharon-Parrell, fell through last night, when the Mercer county team failed to show at Cascade Street Field until 7:30. The game has been rescheduled, and will be played Tuesday, September 4, at Cascade street.

If Fran Rogel were at fullback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, they would be a good, short-end bet to replace the Cleveland Browns as champions of the National Pro League.

Annual Public Links Tourney At Sylvan Heights Sunday

District's Top Golfers Entered

Fans Invited To Come And Watch

Tenth annual Western Pennsylvania-Eastern Ohio public links tournament will be held Sunday at the Sylvan Heights golf course.

An estimated 125 of the finest golfers in this area will tee off at the local municipal course in the 36-hole grind, beginning as early as possible in the morning.

First scheduled tee-off time is 8 o'clock, but should the weather permit some groups will begin before that time.

One of the finest fields ever assembled will be out for the more than $500 in prizes that will be awarded at the end of the day's play.

Past Champs Present

Every one of the past champions in the tournament, with the exception of Joe Golub of Cleveland, is back for this year's tourney, including former New Castle ace Ted Lach.

Besides the past tournament champions, such noted district players as Andy Santor, Dr. Frank Bellino, Steve Kovach, Frank Szewko, Mike Szewko, Johnny Schneider, Stan Bukowski, Bob McCall, Sam Musico, Eli Thomas and many others will take part.

Golf fans are invited to come out and watch the day's action. Fine groups will be teeing off at almost any hour of the morning and afternoon.

Maureen Riley Entered

A highlight of the tourney is the entry of New Castle's Maureen Riley. Maureen will tee off at 9:54 with Tinny Lombardo of New Castle and Andy Branagan of Pittsburgh.

Official starter for the tournament will be Francis Clause. Fred Welker will be in charge of the blind bogey and S. G. Haycock, Sr., will be field judge. Nick Gennock will be official scorekeeper.

Mayor John Haven will award the prizes.

Golfers without scheduled starting times will be worked into the starting schedule with groups that are not complete. In all probability the groups will tee off in foursomes, because of the large number of entries.

Experiment At Bessemer With 'T' Formation

Bessemer gridgers are currently running from the T formation.

A small and comparatively fast squad has been running plays from the basic, tight T at the Cement-school, in practices thus far.

Coach Willie Cicone, who has not yet scrapped the single wing, has nevertheless thought seriously of running most of his plays from the T.

At present, the quarter-back up under the center is Phillip Lagness, the left half back, Joe Comness, the right half, either Norman Lupo or Val Livorno, and the middle man in the T backfield, Phillip DeArment.

Tom Penwell and Ralph Cunningham are stationed at the flanks, Mike Lusere and Paul Shuliga at tackles, and Joe Galletta at center.

The injured list are Eugene Retort, fullback and Gerald Simari, tackle. Both will miss the opening game.

Ladies Tenpin Session Sept. 5

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

TOM KENNELLY, who, years ago, was associated with George Gunther, who became one of America's top ring men, believes Irish Billy Graham was robbed when the decision went to Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan in New York City recently. Bernie Hanlon and no doubt thousands of others believe likewise but, Here & There is of the opinion that Referee Mark Conn served a just decision, Graham having started to pile up points too late to overtake Gavilan's lead earned in the early rounds. . . . Dude O'Brien, who has seen fighters come and go for five decades is not impressed by Irish Bob Murphy. "He fought the kind of a fight which suited Joey Maxim to a T." Dude said. The fight recalled to Here & There, the aggressive style of George Chip. However, Chip had odds more ability than Murphy. He had a defense. When George boxed Mike Gibbons, the phantom at Youngstown, Mike won easily, but at no time did Mike abandon his guard against George's left hook. O'Brien also had something to say about Jimmy Dunn. "Do you know," he inquired, "that Dunn lost only two decisions, one to Abe Attel and the other to Harlem Tommy Murphy, both at South Sharon? In his second fight with Murphy, he put Murphy down in the first, second and the third rounds. He tired and this was all that saved Tommy from a knockout. In neither fight was Dunn's face cut up. All he got was a black eye. He later trained Johnny Kilbane to win the title from Attel." . . . Mention of Harlem Tommy recalls when he handled Wild Bert Keyes who fought here once, against Walter Little of Chicago, at the Sharkey A.C. in New York. Here & There, then a youngster, helped Parson Tom McGinty, former O & P league umpire hereabouts, second Little. Kid Broad, the original, of Cleveland, was also in Little's corner and he can yet be heard chirping: "Walk in Walter, he can't hit you with a handful of marbles." Later, Little fought and lost to Kid Cushman in New York, then went south. Broad, the son of a minister, went from Cleveland to New York in quest of fistic laurels. He once told the writer that he had knocked out Terry McGovern and was cheated of the knockout. One day, a New York cartoonist because of Broad's broken and bent in nose, caricatured him as a Chinaman. The Kid was so incensed he started for the paper to wreak vengeance on the cartoonist. However, before he got to Park Row he thought different and forgot the incident. . . . Recalling odd incidents of the ring reminds when Tom McMahon, once known as the Bearcat, but whose claws have dulled in recent years, boxed Man Mountain Tom Cowler, whom Jim Corbett picked as a prospective heavyweight champion, in Steubenville. Cowler hit him in the first round, and Tom didn't come "too", although he went the 10 rounds, until after the fight. The punch so dulled Tom's brain he imagined he was in Buffalo. . . . The punch that Danny Kramer of Philadelphia, landed in the pit of Eddie Weygant's stomach, at Youngstown, was one of the most accurately delivered and most vicious, ever seen. It occurred in the first round. The towel was tossed in to save Weygant from a knockout in the second. Returning from Youngstown in the car with Weygant, he was asked: "How do you feel?" Weygant smiled and replied: "I can still feel his glove in my stomach."

WPIAL Declares Caputo Eligible

James Caputo, 191-pound senior tackle of New Castle high school, was declared eligible for football at New Castle at a meeting of the WPIAL decisions committee in Pittsburgh Friday night.

Caputo's family moved to South New Castle boro last spring and there had been some doubt as to his eligibility at New Castle this year.

Canes Break Camp

Coaches weren't counting on him due to this doubt and his addition to the other candidates should strengthen the Canes front line.

The case of Mitchell Charles, who returned from the National Guard last spring, was also reviewed. Charles will not be eligible until New Castle's second game of the season, but due to the injury of his shoulder he won't be ready until after that anyway.

Meanwhile the Canes broke camp last night and transferred their equipment to Taggart stadium, where an intra-squad game was played this morning.

Injured Boxer Still In Coma

Flores' Condition Slightly Improved

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(INS)—The condition of George Flores, 20-year-old ring knockout victim, was described as "slightly improved" today although the Brooklyn welterweight remained in a coma.

Flores underwent emergency brain surgery after an eighth-round knockout at the hands of 21-year-old Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N. Y., in a Madison Square semi-final on Wednesday night.

He has not regained consciousness since that time.

Hospital authorities said a second operation was not now in prospect.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, New York State Athletic Commission physician, described Flores' condition as "very grave" but added:

"Every minute he remains alive, the better are his chances."

Niagara Wins Series Opener

Defeat Sailors By Score 6-2

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 1.—(INS)—Niagara Falls will go after its second straight victory against Erie in the best-of-seven game series for the Middle Atlantic league title tonight.

The New York state team, which copped a 6-2 victory in the opener last night, will send Ken Yoult (21-7) against Ed Moeller (14-6). Larry Rush and Bob Nichols rapped homers for the winners, the former in the eighth inning, the latter in the first. Fran Zeisz was the winning pitcher.

R-M's Swamp Ellwood CIO

Late Rally Brings Second Series Win

Ross-Morelli jammed home nine big runs in the final three innings at Gaston park Friday night to add a second win over the Ellwood City CIO, 11-2.

The second of the city-county championship series was a 2-2 tie ball game when the R-M's cut loose.

Sammy Caiazza hit safely five out of six times, and Richards and Cioppi, along with Caiazza, all rapped doubles. Snare homered for the losers.

Babe McFarland allowed but three hits in picking up the win. Brandes was tapped for 13 in being charged with his second loss.

The two teams will play Monday at Ellwood City because of the repairs being made at Gaston park.

Joe Louis Wins Amateur Title

First Golf Title For Ex-Fight Champ

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—(INS)—Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, is having more success on the golf links these days than in the ring.

The Brown Bomber, whose fists have carried him to fame, defeated Lee Elder of Dallas, Tex., 2-up for the United Golf Association amateur title at Cleveland's Seneca course yesterday. It was the first golf title ever won by Louis in his long years of playing the amateur circuit.

The professional division title was won by Ted Rhodes of Los Angeles who fired a 72-hole total of 280, eight under par, to take top money for the second straight year. He received $700 for his efforts.

Request for Sealed Bids to Furnish and Install New Steam Boiler at the Court House

The Lawrence County Commissioners request sealed bids for furnishing and installing a new steam heating boiler to replace the old, so-called No. 2 boiler, located at the south end of the boiler room, Court House, New Castle, Pennsylvania; same to be of type, standard and quality to satisfactorily heat the Court House buildings.

The bidder will be required to examine the situation and specifically set forth in his proposal the type, character, size and quality of boiler, accessories and parts he proposes to install. The bid shall include the furnishing and installation of the new boiler and all accessories, parts, materials and labor.

The successful bidder will be required to remove the old boiler from its location and store the same in any other part of the boiler room; also, such parts of the present bio-led stoker as may be necessary. Boiler parts and controls shall be removed carefully and stored in order that they may be re-set in the new boiler. The old boiler, stoker, and all parts and accessories shall remain the property of the County of Lawrence. The new boiler, as furnished and installed, shall be connected to all supply and return lines in an approved manner. It must be so installed as to operate satisfactorily with the old, so-called No. 1 boiler, which must be kept in operation, or ready for operation, and shall not be disturbed during the period of such installation. The successful bidder shall furnish and install all accessories with the boiler such as boiler level, electric controls, and other parts so as to make a complete standard steam trim, as now used on the old boiler, utilizing the old accessories only where same are in good condition. Standard insulation must be provided for the boiler, supply lines and elsewhere as necessary. The old stoker must be re-set in the new boiler in an approved manner. There shall be supplied and installed a breaching connection to the smoke pipe, with dampers in smoke openings for the use of the present barometric damper control. After testing, inspection and painting, all debris and work materials must be promptly removed from the premises.

The successful bidder must agree to complete the work within 60 days after the contract is awarded to him. He also will be required to furnish his own insurance to cover all workmen, public liability and property damage. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or by a cashier's check in the sum of $200.00, payable to the County of Lawrence, to be forfeited to said County to the extent loss may be suffered by said County by reason of the failure of the successful bidder to sign the contract and give the required bonds within 15 days after the contract has been awarded to him. The County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any of the bids or all of them.

All bids must be in the hands of the undersigned not later than Monday, September 10, 1951, at 9:00 o'clock A.M. E.S.T., in his office at the Court House, at which time same will be publicly opened at a meeting in the assembly room of the County Commissioners, second floor, Court House, New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Two Reds Are Found Guilty In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—(INS)—A criminal court jury on Friday found two Pittsburgh communists guilty of violation of the Pennsylvania Anti-Sedition Act of 1939.

Nine women and three men deliberated less than nine hours before announcing the verdict which means possible jail terms of 20 years each and fines of $10,000 each for James Dolsen and Andrew Onda.

Dolsen was Pittsburgh correspondent for the Daily Worker and Onda had been an organizer for the party among steelworkers.

Charges against the pair and a third communist, Steve Nelson, were brought last fall by common pleas court Judge Michael A. Musmanno who recently was elected to the state supreme court.

Nelson's case was severed from that of his colleagues when he was injured last May in a Philadelphia automobile accident. He was the western Pennsylvania chairman of the party. He and the two defendants were arrested by federal agents recently and charged with violation of the Smith Act.

The sedition trial lasted 35 weeks due to long cross-examination by the defense and illnesses suffered by jury members and one of the defendants.

Seeks To Preserve Declaration's Life

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Scientists are performing some new tricks in adding to the longevity of the 175-year old Declaration of Independence.

Plans call for sealing the faded parchment in a hermetically tight case of clear plate glass, using helium as a preservative for the first time. Details of the process are described in a technical circular just issued by the National Bureau of Standards, which developed the enclosure with cooperation of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company technicians.

Even the relative humidity of the helium within the case will be controlled in order to keep the parchment from becoming too damp or too dry. After exhaustive research, NBS scientists found the gas should be maintained at 25 to 35 per cent relative humidity at room temperature.

In order to maintain this range in spite of temperature changes with the seasons, the bureau recommended to the Library of Congress, custodian of the documents, that parchment be encased to rest on a special pure cellulose backing paper which would act as a compensating reservoir for moisture.
